COMMUNITY & FAMILY RESOURCES

Inspiring prevention, treatment and recovery

Special Populations: Focus on Women's Health, Pregnant Women, Hep C, and HIV

Presenter: Lacy Halsrud, ARNP

9a-12p
OR
1-4p

July 31, 2026
OR
August 14, 2026

Objectives:

1. Describe the unique healthcare needs and challenges faced by women, pregnant individuals, and persons living with HCV and HIV.
2. Identify current best practices for screening, prevention, treatment, and care coordination for these special populations.
3. Recognize risk factors, barriers to care, and social determinants of health that may impact patient outcomes.
4. Identify barriers that may affect treatment engagement, retention, and recovery; including housing instability, childcare needs, transportation, stigma, and co-occurring mental health conditions.
5. Apply trauma-informed, gender-responsive, and stigma-free approaches when engaging clients from these special populations.
6. Demonstrate an understanding of confidentiality, stigma reduction, and culturally responsive care principles.
7. Demonstrate strategies for supporting medication adherence, appointment compliance, and continuity of care among clients with HCV and HIV.
8. Utilize available community resources and referral pathways to improve access to comprehensive care.
9. Incorporate special population considerations into treatment planning, discharge planning, and relapse prevention efforts.

Who Should Attend:

Behavioral Health Professionals

CEUs AVAILABLE: 3 hours– Special Populations (IBC Approved)

Location: Web Based via Zoom

Registration Link:

https://cfrtraining.wufoo.com/forms/special-populations-training/

Registration closes on July 28th

Community and Family Resources is part of the Integrated Provider Network, with services funded by the Iowa Department of Health and Human Services and the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration.